3. ARC Fertility Benefits
 - a. This add-on benefit offers employees greater discounts and better care than current options. Statistically, outcomes are less costly in claims. Inclusive of single men and women, those in the LGBTQ community, can help to attract and retain staff. Employer only pays when it is used, minimum subsidy is $5,000, and average population affected is 1%. Partnered with Yale, average cost for this process is $20,000. Customized care and consumer lending available. For consideration, we should look at what is included with our current fertility benefits and see if it is feasible for the two plans to work together.
4. New/Old Business:
 - a. None
5. Adjournment: The meeting was adjourned at 10:15 AM.
